Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-49100017.

JP-49100017 discloses a fuel supply device comprising: a fuel pump (2A, 2B); a common rail (the common pipe 9A, 9B serves as a common rail) which accumulates a high-pressure fuel which is supplied from the fuel pump (2A, 2B) under pressure; and a fuel injection valve (11) which is capable of supplying the high-pressure fuel accumulated in the inside of the common rail to an internal combustion engine (E), the fuel pump including a plurality of high-pressure generating portions (5) whose high-pressure-fuel injection timings are shifted from each other (because of the single cam), wherein the fuel supply device includes a plurality of high-pressure pipes (pipes between 8 and 12) which are provided corresponding to the plurality of high-pressure generating portions (2A, 2B) and connect fuel outlet ports of the corresponding high-pressure generating portions (plungers) to the common rail, and a connection pipe (12) which connects at least two or more high-pressure pipes out of the plurality of high-pressure pipes with each other in the vicinity of the corresponding fuel outlet ports. Regarding claim 2, wherein the connection pipe (12) is arranged outside the fuel pump.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP-49100017.

At the time the invention was made; it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to locate the connecting pipe inside the fuel pump because applicant has not disclosed that doing so provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, further, would have expected applicant's invention to perform equally well with the connecting pipe arranged outside the fuel pump because the effect the connecting pipe in both cases will be the same.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references show high pressure fuel systems.
